Also visit Amantani Island, located at an elevation of 4150 m, it is famous for its terraced hillsides that used to be farmed by the locals. The old capital of the Inca Empire survives only in its ruins, imbued with an atmosphere of mystery and grandeur. The Spanish colonial city, with its attractive pink tiled roofs, arcaded plazas and steep winding alleyways, stands upon tremendous Inca foundation stones. This morning take a walking tour of this lovely city to see important Inca and Colonial monuments, such as Plaza de Armas, the main square and the Koricancha, once an Incan Palace dedicated to the sun god, Inti. You then visit one of the outlying Inca sites - Cusco's temple-citadel, Saqsaywaman which broods high above the town, its huge, zigzagging stone walls broken into 66 sharply projecting angles to catch attackers in a withering crossfire. The journey continues to the archaeological sites at Qenko, Puca-Pucara, and Tambomachay and ends with a visit to an Andean art workshop.

DAY 11 Full day tour in the Sacred Valley

Take a trip out into the Sacred Valley to visit the areas of Chinchero, Maras and Moray. The local people of Chinchero are famous for their traditional Andean weaving techniques and the town square with its popular handicraft market, is a great place to see their colourful clothes. Known locally as the 'laboratory of the Incas' Moray contains unusual Inca ruins, mostly consisting of several enormous terraced circular depressions, the largest of which is about 30 m (98 ft) deep. The purpose of these depressions is uncertain, but their depth and orientation with respect to wind and sun creates a temperature difference of as much as 15 °C (27 °F) between the top and bottom. This large temperature difference was possibly used by the Inca to study the effects of different climatic conditions on crops. In other words, Moray was perhaps an Inca agricultural experiment station. As with many other Inca sites, it also has a sophisticated irrigation system.

Overnight: Hotel

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 12 Full day visit to Machu Picchu

Take an early morning train along the side of the Rio Urubamba, flanked by high cliffs and peaks, then climb by bus to Machu Picchu - the famous Lost City at 2,400m. Explore this mountain-top stronghold - the most spectacular feat of engineering in ancient America. Returning to Aguas Calientes for the night.
