DAY 1 Join trip and drive to Gullfoss area. Zip wire over waterfall.

Arrive in Iceland and join the trip at Keflavik airport. On arrival head directly for the Reykjanes peninsula, giving us our first taste of the wild landscapes that Iceland is famed for. Our first stop is the small town of Hveragerdi. A powerful earthquake hit the town on 29th May 2008 measuring 6.3 on the richter scale. The earthquake was so powerful an entire area of hot springs opened up throwing colourful mud and highly charged jets of water into the air. We visit an earthquake stimulator and exhibition before heading to the great outdoors and one of the highlights of the trip, zip-wiring over the Reykjafoss Waterfall, one of Iceland's major natural highlights. At 90 meters long, this is a great way to enjoy the adrenaline rush of zipping across the waterfall in Hveragerdi with all equipment and instruction included, this activity is sure to put a smile on everyone's faces (the zip-wire is weather dependant based upon wind conditions so could take place on another day during your holiday). We continue to our accommodation in the Flúðir area, close to Gullfoss.

Overnight: Standard Guesthouse

Included Meals: Dinner

DAY 2 Skogafoss waterfall, black sand beach or optional glacier walk, secret lagoon.

This morning we drive to the stunning Seljalandsfoss waterfall. We have the unique opportunity here to actually walk behind the falls for an altogether different perspective. The Skogafoss waterfall is close by and probably rivals Gullfoss as Iceland's most famous waterfall with a height of 60m, it regularly produces a rainbow-yielding mist that makes it a photographer's dream. It is easily accessible with a pathway running alongside the falls and the ability to get close to the base of the waterfall. We then go to see the Eyjafjallajökull Volcano visitor centre with the volcano itself looming ominously in the background. The centre explains the history and geology of this famous volcano made famous when it erupted in 2010 and caused enormous disruption to air travel across Europe. An interesting video follows the plight of the local community and how they dealt with the ash that covered large areas of the country. We then walk along the coastal area where the black beach at Vik I Myrdal, with its basalt cliffs and windswept vistas all providing some great photo opportunities. There is the option to hike on the Solheimajokull glacier instead of visiting the black sand beaches (additional cost applies, see optional excursion section for details, minimum age of 10 applies). Rather than view the glacier from the windows of our bus, have the opportunity to get up close and personal. Heading out to the glaciers terminal moraine we put on a set of crampons and are given an ice axe, to allow us to walk on the glaciers surface. After a full safety briefing head onto the glacier with our experienced local guide to wander through a dazzling landscape of ice sculptures, ridges and deep crevasses made by glacial meltwater. Witnessing the power of nature first hand is a magical experience and a great fun educational experience for the whole family. End the day with a visit to the Secret Lagoon natural hot springs near Fludir. Unlike the Blue Lagoon, this pool has been kept to its natural surroundings. The warm water holds 38-40 Celsius year round and there are several geothermal spots and a little Geysir which erupts every 5 minutes.

Overnight: Standard Guesthouse

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 3 Visit the Gullfoss waterfall and Geysir, cooking lesson and a Viking Heritage Centre

Today we drive to Gullfoss, the Golden Waterfall, regarded by many as one of the most beautiful falls in the world. It cascades into a deep gorge with tremendous force, its spray forming colourful rainbows in the afternoon sun. En route we will also visit the Geysir Geothermal Area. This is the location of the first spouting hot spring to become known to Europeans and thereby originating the name given to all 'geysers'. There are some very small springs in the area which only reaches about a foot in height, but the main attraction is Strokkur, meaning 'The Butter Churn', which spouts around every 10 minutes up to a height of some 30 metres. We then drive to Thingvellir, meaning Parliament Plains. This was the site of Iceland's first National Assembly in the year 930 AD. It lies in a rift valley which is about 5 kilometres wide with Lake Thingvallavatn bordering it on the south side and a mountain range to the north. Originating in a nearby volcano, it flows into the rift valley over the edge of a 9,000 year old lava field. The area is of great interest to geologists, as it sits astride the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, the great cleft in the Earth's crust that separates the Eurasian tectonic plate from the North American plate. The largest of the ravines bordering the rift valley is called Almannagja Ravine near where the Parliament was held. Having spent some time walking through the area we continue to visit a local family who will teach us how to cook a traditional Icelandic desert of twisted pancakes, which we enjoy with some hot chocolate. We then drive to the Viking Heritage settlement at Borgarnes. A unique innovative multimedia experience, the centre brings to life the world of the Vikings and allows you to experience first-hand the thrill and excitement of a voyage back in time. We then swim in a local pool that is geothermally heated with accompanying hot tubs before finishing our day at our guesthouse accommodation in the charming village of Borgarnes.

Overnight: Simple Guesthouse

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 4 Wild Iceland. Full day on the Snaefellsnes peninsula caving and bird watching

Today is spent driving on the Snaefellsnes Peninsula, locally known as the peninsula of the snowy mountain. At 1,000 kilometres in length, the peninsula is dominated by the imposing Snaefellsnes Glacier, made famous by Jules Verne in his book: Journey to the Centre of the Earth. It may be possible to snow-mobile (optional) according to snow conditions. We walk along the south coast of the peninsula, visiting Buthir and its light coloured beach - a rarity in this part of the world given that much of Iceland is made up of black basalt lava. Continuing to Arnastapi, a tiny coastal village with an equally tiny harbour, we can view numerous birds that nest and feed along this coast including kittiwakes and arctic terns. Further along the coast at Djuparlonssandur, we see the bizarre rock formations of the rocks which have been sculpted over time by the sea. The afternoon is spent underground with a cave tour 35 meters below the surface - see amazing colours and lava formations in the 8,000 years old cave. Hiking boots and gloves are recommended although the helmets and flashlights are provided. With the glacier dominating on the landward side we drive back to our accommodation later that day.

Overnight: Simple Guesthouse

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 5 Boat trip, sea fishing, Borgarfjorour fjord, historic Akranes, Hraunfossar waterfall; drive to Reykjavik

Enjoy a boat trip around the islands of Breithafjordur (the wide fjord) this morning, once home to Eric the Red, a Viking of such dubious moral character who was actually expelled from both Norway and Iceland for dispatching his enemies on a less than fair manner and then went on to discover Greenland! We end our trip with a little fishing as the crew cast their nets overboard to bring in fresh scallops and sea urchins straight from the sea. En route back to the capital we visit the majestic Borgarfjordur fjord and pass through Akranes where we stop to photograph one of the most picturesque lighthouses in the world, set amongst a stunning backdrop of the Atlantic ocean. We make a number of stops on our way to Reykjavik including the Hraunfossar waterfall and the Icelandic horse center at Sturlu-Reykir. Arriving at the nations capital mid afternoon we check into our hotel. There is the option to visit the Blue Lagoon either this evening or early the next day, details of which can be found in the optional excursions section.

Overnight: Standard Hotel

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 6 Free morning in Reykjavik with optional self guided city tour. Depart for airport.

You might like to take a self-guided walk around the colourful streets of Reykjavik (a map and general information will be provided locally). The world's most northerly capital was established by the Norse chieftain Ingolfur Amarnson around the year 874AD. The oldest part of the town is near the harbour around the lake known as Tjornin. Ducks, geese, swans and Arctic terns can be observed at close quarters and the harbour is always busy with trawlers and other vessels. The city has numerous options for children to enjoy, including the Volcano Show and Saga Museum. Alternatively you may prefer to try whale watching (optional). There can be few experiences on earth to top the sight of one of these mighty leviathans in their natural habitat and what better way to finish our trip. We transfer back to the airport early afternoon where the trip ends.

Included Meals: Breakfast

Ability to swim required

Whether in swimming pools, rivers, lakes, the sea or the ocean, participation requires that you are able to swim unaided for your safe enjoyment

Accommodation and Meals

Accommodation Notes

While in Reykjavik we use a hotel which is located in the outskirts of the city. Set in beautiful surroundings with the Atlantic Ocean on all sides, the hotel is a great introduction to the island. All rooms have private facilities with two outdoor Jacuzzis. There is also a swimming pool within a 10 min walk. In South Iceland, we stay in a renovated country farm lodge (which used to host life stock) with shared toilet facilities. This is a very charming place and great for kids with a variety of animal's ensuite such as dogs, cats, horses, goats and other farm animals. In Snaefellsnes, we stay at a guesthouse with shared facilities located on the southern side of the peninsula. A unique swimming pool is within walking distance with warm geothermal waters of up to 35°C.

Due to the recent considerable rise in tourism in Iceland, hotels are experiencing very high demand for rooms and there have been some occurrences of overbookings, which are often notified to us at a late stage. For this reason, we would like to emphasise that hotel accommodation is subject to change, which may result in the need to alter your night stops with little or no notice. Explore are working closely with our team on the ground to minimise changes to accommodation, although in the case of unavoidable hotel changes, we will endeavour to always provide accommodation of the same or a higher standard.

Preparing for your Trip

Climate

Iceland

Iceland has a cool and temperate climate and, despite its location just south of the Arctic Circle, its northerly latitude is counteracted by the warm waters of the North Atlantic Drift which encircles the island. Temperatures in winter can fluctuate between about 10°C and -10°C and precipitation in the form of rain, sleet or snow is to be expected at any time. Days will be short, with daylight often only guaranteed between about 11 am and 4 pm in December. The best time for seeing the Aurora Borealis is October to March. Summer is generally cool with average temperatures for June and July around 12 - 15 degree centigrade in Reykjavik, although is known to be warmer in other parts of the country. In June and July you can enjoy continuous daylight and see the Midnight Sun, whilst late spring and early autumn offer long twilights.

Clothing

July-August are the warmest months; but summer tends to be cool, especially inland at higher elevations. Weather conditions can change rapidly – sunshine, drizzle, rain and snow may all occur in the same day. You'll need warmer clothing for outdoors and cool evenings. A wind and waterproof jacket and trousers are essential.

Equipment

Suncream, sunglasses, a water bottle, torch, warm hat, gloves, warm and waterproof clothing, sturdy shoes, swimming costume, a fleece and/or warm layers.

Footwear

Walking boots/shoes and trainers. Soft indoor shoes are recommended as it is normal in Iceland to have special house shoes.

Luggage: On Tour

One main piece of baggage, a soft grip bag is ideal (not a framed rucksack) and a small daysac.

Luggage allowance on trip: 20kg
