Land Of Ice & Fire

Iceland is a land of elves and Viking mythology and it's packed with weird and wonderful places that capture your imagination and leave you wanting to return over and over again. On this comprehensive best of Iceland round trip we'll explore the main sites as well as the lesser visited, but equally impressive attractions. There's no better introduction to this fascinating country's spectacular and diverse landscapes as we discover raging waterfalls, remote villages, black sand beaches and glistening glaciers. We walk in the wild Skaftafell region, drift between icebergs on Jokulsarlon Lagoon and take in the unique volcanic landscape of Lake Myvatn. We also visit the capital of Reykjavik and explore the famous 'Golden Circle.' Iceland is a truly unique destination and unlike anywhere else in Europe. This is the best place to see such amazing coastal and volcanic scenery without needing to take a long haul flight or drive over long distances; you'll see a huge amount all within close proximity to each other.

Why Book this trip

Iceland is a destination where you can still get up close to its many and varied natural attractions. You can touch the point where tectonic plates meet, feel the spray of roaring waterfalls against your face and stare in awe as icebergs float pass you. The people are friendly and have a wonderful sense of humour. They'll tell you tales of elves and Norse gods, which have helped to shape this magical island.

Wildlife

The waters around Iceland cover the cold Arctic Sea to the north and the warmer North Atlantic Ocean to the south. The mixing of the two currents combined with relatively shallow water and long daylight hours during the summer make for great feeding areas for whales, dolphins and an array of birdlife.

During the summer months, the harbour and surrounding areas around Reykjavik are teeming with wildlife, including a variety of birds, whales and dolphins. On our optional whale watching trip, there is the possibility of seeing harbour porpoises, white beaked dolphin, humpback whale, fin whale and minke whale. The majestic blue whale is also a visitor to the Icelandic waters during the long summer months. It is possible to see puffins between May and mid-August. They return to the same site to breed year after year, laying their eggs in late April to early May, then feeding the fledgling for a month or two. After this, the parents then abandon the nest and their young, leaving them to fend for themselves. The puffin colonies in Reykjavik are easily reached by boat. There are a variety of other birdlife that we could see, including cormorants, arctic terns, eider ducks and black guillemots.

Suitability

We've given each of our tours a comfort rating and a tour pace, walking or cycling grade to give you a general idea about the level of activity on each tour and the standard of accommodation you will be staying in at the end of your day's adventure.

Often you'll stay in different styles of accommodation during your tour; so we make an average rating across the entire tour. For more information on where you'll stay each night, please refer to the day by day tour itinerary.

Accommodation Grade: Simple

No-frills accommodation which includes berths on sleeper trains, rooms in village houses, boat cabins, campsites, huts and simple family-run lodges, guesthouses and hotels. Sleeping arrangements are simple and amenities are adequate, sometimes with en suite facilities and occasionally communal.

Tour Style: Classic

Packed with adventure, these tours offer inspiring destinations and authentic travel experiences at a reasonable price. Using all kinds of transport and accommodation, we'll take you off the beaten track to discover the true heart of the people and places you visit.

Tour Pace: Moderate

These moderately paced tours provide some busy days with plenty of experiences to enjoy, as well as time to relax along the way.

Your trip itinerary

Tour itinerary notes

While our intention is to adhere to the day-by-day itinerary as printed below, a degree of flexibility is built in. Overnight stops may vary from those suggested.

Your Tour Leader

An Explore Leader is an integral part of any Explore trip and your trip will be led by one of our experienced Explore Leaders who have been handpicked and expertly trained. We believe that our Explore Leaders are the key to the success of our trips; they are passionate travellers who are bursting with first-hand local knowledge which they love to share. Your Explore Leader will also take care of all the planning and organisation throughout your journey. Their passionate approach will make this trip fun and inspiring, bringing the destination to life whether you're travelling alone or with others.

DAY 1 Join trip in Reykjavik

On this trip our transfers from Keflavik airport to our hotel in Reykjavik will be on the very efficient and easy to use public FlyBus and you'll collect your voucher for this from a representative at the Flybus Desk in the airport. On the drive from the airport to the hotel, which takes around 45 minutes, you'll get your first glimpse of the blackened and rocky volcanic scenery found on this part of the island. After checking-in to our conveniently-located hotel in the city, you may have time to explore a little of the world's most northerly capital. Bustling with cosmopolitan energy and surrounded by pure, unpolluted nature, Reykjavik is a city of striking contrasts. Small colourful corrugated iron houses nestle next to futuristic glass buildings; state-of-the-art facilities lie beside rugged volcanic terrain and international influences mingle with Icelandic national traditions. All this creates a unique culture where old embraces new. On this holiday you'll be accompanied by an Explore Leader from days 2 to 9, so this evening you are free to settle in and enjoy the diverse dining and, maybe even the nightlife, of this charming city.

Overnight: Simple Hotel

Included Meals: None

DAY 2 Golden Circle tour of Geysir, Gullfoss and Thingvellir

This morning after meeting your Explore Leader and the rest of the group, we take a tour of Iceland's 'Golden Circle', which includes many of the natural wonders which make the country so famous. Thingvellir is a rare site of both historical and geological importance. Meaning 'Parliament Plains', this was the location of Iceland's first National Assembly from 930AD until 1798 and, as such, is hugely significant in the country's cultural heritage. What's more, the impressive landscape sits on a unique spot where the Mid-Atlantic Ridge can be seen on dry land before disappearing to the ocean floor where it spends most of its existence. This provides the quirky opportunity to place one foot on the North American tectonic plate and one foot on the Eurasian plate. We move on to Gullfoss, known as the 'Golden Waterfall' due to the way it cascades into a deep gorge with tremendous force. Regarded by many as one of the most beautiful falls in the world, its spray forms colourful rainbows in the sun. Geysir is our next stop, with the claim to fame that, as the first spouting spring known to Europeans, it gave all such springs their name. However, it is the Strokkur, meaning 'The Butter Churn', which is the main allure these days, due to its impressive 100 feet eruptions every few minutes. Continuing our journey, we stop to visit Seljalandsfoss, where it is possible to walk behind the waterfall for a different perspective. Our hotel for the night is set in the small town of Skogar, which sits on the edge of Eyjafjallajokull Glacier.

Overnight: Standard Guesthouse
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 3 Visit Skogar Museum, Skogafoss and Fjadrargljufur Canyon

Skogar is located on the edge of Eyjafjallajokull Glacier where the volcano, made infamous in 2010 for being the source of the volcanic ash cloud that caused global flight chaos, is located. Whilst here we will visit its famous folk museum, which is home to reconstructed traditional houses and historic buildings. We will also take in Skogafoss Waterfall, springing from a height of 60 metres at the top of an eroded cliff. Our drive into the beautiful Skaftafell region takes us via the picturesque village of Vik. Here, we'll stroll along the black basalt sand beach, looking out for sea birds, such as puffins and arctic terns. Later, we traverse the 'Black Desert' - part of the world's greatest lava field created in 1783-4, before enjoying a walk along the spectacular gorge of Fjadrargljufur Canyon. After crossing the great sandy plain of Skeidararsandur, we arrive at our accommodation near Kirkjubaejarklaustur. Staying here for the next two nights provides us with a great base from which to explore the spectacular Skaftafell National Park.

Overnight: Simple Hotel
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 4 Explore the Skaftafell region on foot

Today is spent walking and enjoying the space and silence of the remote Skaftafell region, where a tapestry of flower-filled meadows contrasts with stark glacial landscapes. Your Explore Leader will be able to recommend walks according to the interests and abilities of the group. One highlight which we will enjoy together is Svartifoss. Translated as the 'Black Fall', this beautiful mountain stream flows over a natural wall of basalt stone pillars. For an additional cost which is payable locally, there is the chance to enjoy a glacial walk using crampons. An easy two-hour option takes you to the Svínafellsjökull Glacier tongue, where you will meander through a wonderland of glacial ice sculptures, ridges and deep crevasses. Alternatively, a moderately-paced four-hour trek climbs up into the glacier valley between the summits of Hvannadalshnukur and Hrutsfjall. Both of these walks are accompanied by an experienced guide who will provide guidance on the use of crampons and ice axes.

Overnight: Simple Hotel
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 5 Get close-up to icebergs by boat on Jokulsarlon Lagoon

En route to our night stop near Egilsstaðir, we break our drive at Jokulsarlon Lagoon. Here, we will enjoy a breathtaking boat ride, drifting between spectacular blue-veined icebergs. The ice is breaking off from the Breidamerkurjökull Glacier and the icebergs then slowly float their way through the lagoon and out to sea under a bridge for the main number one road. You can see the bergs drifting out into the ocean whilst others sit lazily on the black beaches waiting for the current to sweep them out. On one of the bridge's pillars there is painting, supposedly by Banksy, of a headless polar bear pushing a shopping trolley. The lagoon is quite narrow, but the waters are up to 250 meters deep, which makes it the deepest lake found in Iceland. The sandy plains that surround us are the northern hemisphere's principal nesting ground for the great skua and it's possible to spot them. Continuing our journey, we travel through an impressively-engineered 1.3 kilometre-long Almannaskard Pass tunnel under the mountain, before reaching Egilsstaðir on Iceland's north eastern fjordic coastline. We stay overnight near this town.

Overnight: Simple Hotel
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 6 Experience the might of Dettifoss and magical Lake Myvatn

This morning, we travel through desolate, lunar landscapes up into the northern reaches of this rugged island. It may come as no surprise that Neil Armstrong trained close to this area prior to his moon landing. Our next stop is Dettifoss - Europe's most powerful waterfall, which roars down the huge gorge of the Jokulsa-a-Fjollum River. The massive amount of water that plummets over these falls is astonishing to see and looks like nowhere else on earth and as such it was used as the filming location for the opening scenes of Ridley Scott's 'Prometheus' in 2012. Our next stop is Lake Myvatn. There are few places in the world where such a diversity of volcanic sites can be found in such a small area. Formed 3800 years ago when a lava flow blocked the valley, the lake is one of the most fertile spots in the world. During our time here we will see the boiling mud pools or 'solfataras' at Namaskard, where the earth's crust seems to ripple and bubble, and the ground is a blend of amazing colours caused by these hot sulfuric mud and steam springs. Walking up to the rim of Hverfjall Crater, we descend through the 'Lava Park', where natural sculptures have been formed over the decades. The lake itself is a veritable paradise for birdwatchers, attracting up to 150,000 birds in the summer months, across 15 species. After spending most of the day here we drive on to Iceland's second city of Akureyri, where we'll stay for the next two nights. Standing on the shores of the country's longest fjord, its location couldn't be better, and there are many good bars and restaurants for you to choose from this evening.

Overnight: Simple Guesthouse
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 7 Free day in the capital of the north, Akureyri

This small and extremely picturesque city is famous for its botanical garden, and its galleries and Lutheran Cathedral are also well worth visiting. The gardens were founded in 1912 and contain nearly every native plant found in Iceland, as well as thousands of foreign floras too. Today is free for you to explore this laid back city or you may choose to join a gourmet tasting tour where you can discover the best of the local North Icelandic products. Alternatively if you'd like to see more of the surrounding countryside then you can join an excursion to authentic fishing villages and black sand beaches. This evening there's also the option to venture out to sea on a whale watching excursion.

Overnight: Simple Guesthouse
Single Room Available

Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 8 See Godafoss Waterfall and visit the Glaumbaer Museum

Today's journey into the Hunavatnssysla region includes a stop at Godafoss - one of the country's most spectacular waterfalls. The waters at these horseshoe shaped falls are so blue that it looks as though they've been dyed, but it's 100% natural and stunningly beautiful. Continuing westwards in the afternoon, we stop at one of the best-preserved traditional Icelandic turf roofed farmhouses, now converted into the Glaumbaer Museum. The exhibits here focus on what rural life was like in Iceland in the 18-19th centuries. As well as the main farmhouse there are two examples of the first timber houses that were built in the region. Tonight we'll stay near either Borgarnes or Hvammstangi.

Overnight: Simple Hotel
Single Room Available

 Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

DAY 9 Return to Reykjavik; chance to visit the Blue Lagoon

Driving back to Reykjavik, we will have a brief tour of the city by bus. Although established by the Norse chieftain Ingolfur Amarnson around the year 874 AD, real development only started at the end of the 18th century and the city is still relatively small. This afternoon has been left free for you to spend as you wish. You may choose to continue to explore the city centre on foot, visiting its art galleries and museums or soaking up the atmosphere in one of its many cafes. Alternatively, there's the chance to go on a whale watching trip or take a recuperative dip in the Blue Lagoon. Accidentally formed in the 1970's by a nearby geothermal power plant, the lagoon's health-giving properties and steaming turquoise waters now attract visitors from around the world.

Overnight: Simple Hotel
Single Room Available

 Included Meals: Breakfast

DAY 10 Trip ends in Reykjavik

Our trip ends after breakfast this morning. The transfer back to Keflavik airport will be on the public FlyBus and your Explore Leader will provide you with the details of your pick up time and with your voucher for this service.

 Included Meals: Breakfast

Included Activities

There's no getting away from the fact that Iceland is an expensive destination, eating out can be pricey and the standard of accommodation you can get for your money is probably lower than you'd expect in most other European destinations. But having said this Iceland is one of our favourite places, as it is just so unique and there are so many incredible natural wonders to see, that you come home with amazing memories they tend to eclipse the cost of having gone there in the first place, but it's important to know what to expect and to budget accordingly. Please do take note of the accommodation rating, food and drink sections of our trip notes.

Accommodation and Meals

Accommodation Notes

On this tour we use simple accommodation. The majority of hotels in Iceland are decorated in a plain style and many weren't originally built as hotels, but were instead converted from things such as old schools. Rooms can be small and the facilities can be basic. Most accommodation won't have hairdryers or teas and coffee making facilities in the room and some may not have a television, but the scenery outside is so stunning that after a busy day exploring you're unlikely to miss having one.

In Reykjavik on your first and last nights of the trip you will have rooms with private facilities. On all other nights of your stay in Iceland your accommodation will most likely have shared facilities.

Due to the recent considerable rise in tourism in Iceland, hotels are experiencing very high demand for rooms and there have been some occurrences of overbookings, which are often notified to us at a late stage. For this reason, we would like to emphasise that hotel accommodation is subject to change, which may result in the need to alter your night stops with little or no notice. Explore are working closely with our team on the ground to minimise changes to accommodation, although in the case of unavoidable hotel changes, we will endeavour to always provide accommodation of the same or a higher standard.

Preparing for your Trip

Climate

Iceland

Iceland has a cool and temperate climate and, despite its location just south of the Arctic Circle, its northerly latitude is counteracted by the warm waters of the North Atlantic Drift which encircles the island. Temperatures in winter can fluctuate between about 10°C and -10°C and precipitation in the form of rain, sleet or snow is to be expected at any time. Days will be short, with daylight often only guaranteed between about 11 am and 4 pm in December. The best time for seeing the Aurora Borealis is October to March. Summer is generally cool with average temperatures for June and July around 12 - 15 degree centigrade in Reykjavik, although is known to be warmer in other parts of the country. In June and July you can enjoy continuous daylight and see the Midnight Sun, whilst late spring and early autumn offer long twilights.

Clothing

In Iceland weather conditions can change rapidly - sunshine, drizzle, rain and snow may all occur in the same day. You'll need warmer clothing for outdoor activities and cooler evenings, so pack layers. A good quality wind and waterproof jacket and trousers are essential. We also recommend that you bring a swimming costume plus a towel with you as there will be plenty of chances to swim on the tour. If you are planning to join a whale watching excursion then we recommend wrapping up warmly as it can be very chilly out at sea, so take a woolly hat, scarf, jumper and gloves with you.

Equipment

We recommend you bring a small torch and medical kit. The sun can be very strong in the summer months, so take a sun hat, sunscreen and sun glasses. Iceland is one of the most photogenic places on the planet and there are lots of different birds to admire, so we'd suggest taking binoculars and a camera with a spare memory card and battery. Lake Myvatn means lake midge and in the warmer months you'll find many insects here (hence the fact the birds like it so much), so please consider taking a mosquito net hat and insect repellent with you for our walks in this area.

Footwear

We recommend taking walking boots with a sturdy tread and also trainers. Soft indoor shoes are recommended as it is normal in Iceland to have special house shoes. For swimming you may also find a pair of flip flops useful.

Luggage: On Tour

One main piece of baggage, a soft grip bag is ideal (not a framed rucksack) and a small daypack.

Luggage allowance on trip: 20kg
